For Everyone Interested in Wartime Britain

Regular meetings at Otford Memorial Hall near Sevenoaks

Friday 29th September 2006 - 8pm

The Maunsell Sea Forts

An Illustrated History

Built during the Second World War the Maunsell Sea Forts in the Thames Estuary have had a fascinating history.

Built at great expense to defend Britain against German attack they have since been abandoned, used by radio pirates, television producers and even declared as independent nations.

Frank Turner, author of over 60 books, will be giving an illustrated talk on the origins of the Maunsell Sea Forts in the Thames Estuary, their wartime activities, postwar use by the radio pirates and the work to restore the red sands army sea fort which was started in 2004 and is progressing well.

Please come along to what will be a fascinating evening.
